

ZABRECKY
INSTITUTE of Biomedicine

November 16, 2015

Dear Patients and Friends,

It is with great pleasure that I announce the establishment of the Zabrecky Institute of Biomedicine. Since graduating from the National College of Chiropractic in 1976 and Grace University School of Medicine in 1999, my professional goal was to integrate medicine with other healing arts. My vision has now become a reality.

After spending the past 37 years in Ridgefield, Connecticut building a patient base that extends throughout the United States; with patients from Canada, Great Britain, Spain, Germany, France, Switzerland, Italy, Israel, Mexico, Egypt, Turkey, South Korea and China, I will be relocating to the Philadelphia area to open the Zabrecky Institute of Biomedicine. I have assembled, with the help of my colleagues at Thomas Jefferson University and Hospitals, a compassionate and experienced group of physicians and scientist associates to collaborate on the physical, mental and spiritual well-being of my patients.

My new practice will offer an expanded array of integrative health services in a state-of-the-art facility located in suburban Philadelphia at the following address after December 1, 2015:

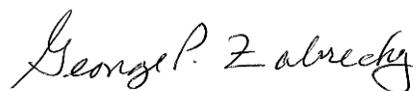

Zabrecky Institute of Biomedicine
789 E. Lancaster Avenue, Suite 230
Villanova, PA 19085
610-616-2500

We will retain all patient records which will be available to both the Connecticut and Pennsylvania facilities as needed. We have incorporated TeleHealth, which will make connections with our providers easy and secure. Telephone numbers at both the Connecticut and Pennsylvania locations will accept calls to facilitate your inquiries.

I am confident that you will enjoy and benefit from active membership within the Zabrecky Institute. I will continue to offer clinical services in the Pennsylvania office as well as through telephone and web-based consultations.

Best personal wishes.

Sincerely,

George P. Zabrecky, D.C., M.D.
